

ethnographic terminalia exhibition as residency

chicago
2013

gallery encounter

November 18 - 22, 2013

Arts Incubator in Washington Park

Second Floor Project Flex Space
301 E. Garfield Boulevard, Chicago, IL 60637

Exhibition Hours

M|W|TR: 12-3pm

F | 12-6pm

Reception & Closing Event

Friday November 22, 2013

6-9pm

Habitat with Ian Kirkpatrick

Dates:

Monday November 18, 2013

Wednesday November 19, 2013

Thursday November 20, 2013

Friday November 21, 2013

Time: 12-3pm

Visit the Arts Incubator during public gallery hours to observe and talk with artist Ian Kirkpatrick as he works within his sculptural structure (a decorated container), as part of his critical reflection on the nature of museum objects and artefacts.

For more information visit:

www.ethnographicterminalia.org/2013galleryencounters

Ethnographic Terminalia is an initiative that brings artists and anthropologists together to engage in emerging research through exhibition.

Exhibition as Residency is an installation of several international collaborative projects that visitors are invited to interact with in the gallery. Join us in exploring what lies within and beyond the disciplinary territories of art and anthropology, and how collaborations can shape new communities and representations of cultural practice.