

ethnographic terminalia

exhibition as residency

chicago
2013

gallery encounter

November 18 - 22, 2013

Arts Incubator in Washington Park

Second Floor Project Flex Space
301 E. Garfield Boulevard, Chicago, IL 60637

Exhibition Hours

M|W|TR: 12-3pm

F | : 12-6pm

Reception & Closing Event

Friday November 22, 2013

6-9pm

The Ethnographic Process of Portrait-Painting with Zoe Bray

Datesvv:

Monday November 18, 2013

Wednesday November 19, 2013

Thursday November 20, 2013

Friday November 21, 2013

Time: 12-3pm

Every 20mins, the artist will break from painting a model in the gallery during public hours to talk with visitors about her unique ethnographic process that involves naturalist/realist painting.

For more information visit:

www.ethnographicterminalia.org/2013galleryencounters

Supported By:

College of Liberal Arts
University of Nevada, Reno

Ethnographic Terminalia is an initiative that brings artists and anthropologists together to engage in emerging research through exhibition.

Exhibition as Residency is an installation of several international collaborative projects that visitors are invited to interact with in the gallery. Join us in exploring what lies within and beyond the disciplinary territories of art and anthropology, and how collaborations can shape new communities and representations of cultural practice.